Necrology.—We have regretfully to record the recent deaths of such old and valued members of our Society as General Coppinger, of Washington; Colonel Hawkes, of Monkstown; Major Tankerville Chamberlain, Mr. Robert Walker, of Cork (Council Member); the Very Rev. Horace T. Fleming, recently Dean of Cloyne; Mr. Denham Franklin, formerly Hon. Secretary; and Dr. Copinger, Manchester. Dean Fleming's name will long be associated with Cloyne Cathedral, not only as its resident Dean, but as the restorer of this venerable structure—a work effected by his efforts and under his supervision in a most commendable manner in 1894. Our Society was indebted to Dean Fleming for the following notable papers which he contributed to the Journal:—"The Basilika," in 1894; "Some Bishops of Cloyne," March, 1896; "Some Notes on the Tynte Family," July, 1903; and "The Castell and Demesne of Cloyne," Oct., 1903. He also contributed to the Notes and Queries section. Dean Fleming died at 2 St. James's Villas, Cork, on the 11th of Dec., 1909, in his 86th year, and was interred at Cloyne. In addition to his valuable services as Honorary Secretary to our Society for many years down to 1904, the late Mr. Denham Franklin contributed a most interesting paper on Timoleague Abbey to the first volume of our Journal (1892); to the number for February, 1895, "Extracts from the Letter Book of Joseph ffranklyn, Mayor of Cork in 1708," and an illustrated account of "A Stone Circle near Glandore," in the number for January, 1903. Mr. Denham Franklin also wrote several of the Book Notices which have appeared in the Journal. He died at 4 Illen Villas, Mardyke, Cork, on the 20th March, 1910, aged 74.

As long as our Society and Journal shall exist, Dr. Copinger's name will not be forgotten for the great service which he performed, in collaboration with our esteemed President, Mr. Robert Day, F.S.A., in supplying the luminous and informing Notes appended to the first fruits of our Society, viz., the new edition of Dr. Smith's Cork, which was published in connection with our three pioneer volumes. These Notes are of inestimable value, and all but bring Dr. Smith's memorable work up to date. Dr. Copinger also most generously offered to place at the disposal of our Society his many MS. collections relating to the County of Cork, some of which he actually sent us, an opportune occasion for whose publication has not yet arrived. Dr. Copinger filled the post of Professor and Dean of the Faculty of Law in the Victoria University, Manchester, and was author, amongst others, of the following books, whose titles are copied from "Who's Who," viz., "Index to Precedents," Title-Deeds," "The Abolition of Capital Punishment," "Tables of Stamp Duties, "A Testimony of Antiquity," "Thoughts on Holiness," "Contributions to the Hymnody," "The Law of Rents," "On Predestination, &c.," "Law of Copyright," "Incunabula Biblica," "The Bible and its Transmission," "Supplement to Hain's Repertorium," "Bibliographiana," "The Imitatio Christi," "History of Buxhall Parish," "Suffolk Records," "The Suffolk Manors," "Heraldry Simplified," and of the "History of the Copingers or Coppingers," his own family, one so long connected with our County—a most valuable work, of which two editions were published.

Dr. Copinger was born in 1847, and married in 1873 a daughter of the Rev. T. J. Stewart, who predeceased him, by whom he had three sons and five daughters. He died at Amonville, The Cliff, Manchester, on the 13th of March, 1910.

We take this opportunity of urging our subscribers and readers to endeavour to induce their friends to subscribe to the Journal, which is one that appeals to all Corkmen alike, without any distinction of religion or politics, and likewise to send us photographs of the old churches and ancient remains of all kinds in the County, so that some remembrance of them will be preserved in this Journal if their originals disappear.

Proceedings of the Society.

On Tuesday evening, January 28th last, Professor W. F. T. Butler, M.A., of the University College, Cork, and a Council Member of our Society, delivered before a small but keenly appreciative audience in the Cork Library, a most interesting and instructive lecture on "The Barony of Muskerry," which we hope to be able to publish in the next issue of the "Journal." Amongst those present at the lecture were the President (Mr. Robert Day), Mrs. Barry, Mr. T. H. Mahony, Dr. Philip Lee, Mr. Farrington, Hon. Treasurer; Mr. D. O'Shea, and Mr. Coleman, Hon. Secretary.

Reviews of Books.

The Church Plate of the Diocese of Cork, Cloyne and Ross, by the Rev. Charles A. Webster, B.D., Rector of Marmullane. Cork: Guy & Co. Price 12/6.

This book fully bears out its title, as it illustrates and describes with great care and accuracy the Church Plate of the several parishes, numbering no less than 191, in the United Diocese of Cork, Cloyne and Ross. In order to compile this work each parish had to be visited, and the Communion Plate carefully examined and photographed; so as a result the volume is profusely illustrated with more than 150 illustrations on as many pages. Not the least important duty of the author was to examine and take casts of the hall marks, town stamps, and makers' marks on each piece of plate, so as to identify it with those used by already known makers, and in some instances to record marks not hitherto published, and thus throw more light on the old time silversmiths of Cork, Youghal, Kinsale and Bandon. Mr. Webster tells us that only one silver cup is known to have been made in Bandon. It belongs to the Communion Plate of St. Colman's Cathedral Church, Cloyne, and has engraved under the foot in script:

"Jo. Moore de Bandon me Fe"; and it bears a close resemblance to another Cup at Ballymodan, Bandon, which is unsigned and without marks of any kind. Some years ago the writer had an opportunity of comparing both, and the conclusion arrived at was that the Cloyne Cup and that at Ballymodan came both from the same workshop, and were the work of Moore. The possible reason why the Bandon Cup is unsigned is that Moore, being a townsman of Bandon, there was no need of stamping his work, as all the parish must have known him, and possibly may have seen him at work upon the vessel, but it would not have been so in Cloyne, where he was probably unknown and a stranger.
